Official Chaperon Has Confidence in Charges

Chaperons have been slandered and scorned by the youth of the world for uncounted years, but the chaperon's side of the story has seldom been heard. Hark, then, to the opinion of the official chaperon for Kemp lodge, the women's dormitory of Tulsa university, who is Miss Eileen Richardson, director of physical education for women.

"Oh, goodness!" was Miss Richardson's exclamation when asked last week how it felt to be an official chaperon for a whole dormitory full of college girls.

"What do you mean?" the reporter questioned. "Yes, I do enjoy it," Miss Richardson said reflectively and a bit defiantly.

Having settled this point, Miss Richardson grew confidential. "Of course, I occasionally find it a bit trying," she confessed.

"We imagine," the reporter murmured sympathetically.

Again the official chaperon went on the defensive. "The college boys and girls are very nice youngsters," she declared, with unnecessary emphasis.

"And chaperoning has its interesting aspects," she finished with a sigh.

Part of Miss Richardson's duties are outlined in Rule No. 8, which is a placard with other rules for the dormitory fellows down from a wall of the room of Miss Mary Allen, dean of women and dormitory preceptress.

"Girls must secure from the dean of women permission to leave the campus at any time. This permission will not be given during study hours: Girls under 18 years of age must be accompanied by a chaperon when away from the campus."

In short, Miss Richardson accompanies all "dorm" girls under 18 whether they leave the campus to shop, have a girl's line party at a downtown moving picture theater or "step out" to parties or concerts with their best beaux.

Miss Richardson's duties are amplified somewhat by the fact that the only "date nights" during the week for Kemp lodge residents are Friday and Saturday evenings. Sometimes Miss Richardson has only one couple to chaperon, but more often "two or three or four or more," as her official "chaperones" are 14 girls who have not yet reached their 18th birthday.

Miss Richardson is a on the scene from 4 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon when college men may come a-calling at Kemp lodge. Miss Richardson's chaperone is also necessary at shopping time in downtown, Tuesday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Miss Richardson is not at all the kind of duenna pictured in the comic supplement for she is young and good to look upon. Unlike most chaperons, she does not approve of carrying chaperone to extremes.

And thinks that the modern young American college woman 18 years of age can be trusted to act with discretion. She therefore favors the permission given to the university girls over 18 to go down town unchaperoned when there are two couples in the party. She rooms in Kemp lodge and when there are more calls for her chaperone, than can conveniently be filled by a person without a double, she is assisted by Miss Caroline Meyer, history instructor.

Ward Recovers Another Car. The recovery of a Franklin touring car was announced Saturday by Ray Ward, city detective, in charge of automobile thefts. The car was found hidden in a weed patch about four miles east of Tulsa. It had been missing since Wednesday when it was stolen from its parking place in front of 119 South Norfolk. The car belonged to B. N. Summer.

Little Susie was at the breakfast table when, as usual, eggs were served. Either she was not hungry or craved a change of diet, for very earnestly and soberly she remarked: "I do wish hens would lay something else besides eggs."

TULSANS URGED TO HELP PARKS

Wealthy Citizens Told of How Donations Aided Denver

If wealthy citizens of Tulsa would provide improvements for the city's parks and boulevards, such improvements to be named for the donor, the playgrounds would be tremendously improved and many more persons would have an opportunity to enjoy themselves during the park season.

Frank H. Reed said at the City club luncheon in the clubhouse of Hotel Tulsa Saturday noon.

This plan, he explained, has been encouraged in many other cities, with surprisingly satisfactory results. He mentioned Denver as a city where most of the park equipment has been donated. Statuary, boulevards, and other improvements have been added, each one known by the name of the person who provided it.

Reed's suggestions were made after an address by N. G. Henthorne, president of the park board, who outlined the work of the local board and told of improvements planned for the park system during the coming year.

Paul Blackwelder suggested that Reed's suggestions be carried a step further and that attendants be provided at the various city parks, not only to look after the grounds and equipment, but to be at the disposal of visitors.

Senator R. L. Davidson spoke briefly at the present session of the legislature. He expressed his belief that there will be no radical legislation passed during this session. Those who compose the body are all level-headed men, he declared, and are giving their attention only to the more serious matters of legislation.

Lack of Variety. Little Susie was at the breakfast table when, as usual, eggs were served. Either she was not hungry or craved a change of diet, for very earnestly and soberly she remarked: "I do wish hens would lay something else besides eggs."

GIRL SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Oak Troop. No. Sunflower and Flying Eagles. Oak troop is not asleep nor dead. We are just gathering a fresh supply of energy for a grand start for 1921. We're off!

Patrol 1, now known as the Beavers, had a very interesting meeting last Monday. Among things decided was to send flowers to one of our councilors who has been ill for some time. We are planning a party to be given Friday afternoon for all members of Oak troop.

Are we Beavers? You were Beavers? What kind of Beavers? Industrious Beavers. We'll work together through all kinds of weather. Beavers! Beavers! Hah! Hah! Hah!

Squirrel patrol, formerly known as Patrol 4, has for its secretary, Cornelia Brothers. One of us, Mildred Hankins, has passed her leaderfoot test and is ready for initiation. Here's where we ride the goat.

The first-class girls are struggling on their signaling. They have almost attained perfection. Two of the girls, who live a block apart, are becoming quite proficient in sending and receiving messages by semaphore.

Since Christmas is past and we ate a supply of candy, we are working on our health winner merit badge.
